Dec 21, 2023

CLAREMONT, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Dec. 21, 2023-- CommScope (NASDAQ: COMM) was recently named to Newsweek's list of America's Most Responsible Companies 2024. This marks the fifth consecutive year that CommScope received this prestigious honor, earning a spot among the top 125 companies overall for 2024. Additionally, CommScope was pleased to receive a five-star ranking on Newsweek's America's Greatest Workplaces for Diversity 2024 list.

Newsweek's rankings for America's Most Responsible Companies are based on a holistic view of corporate responsibility that considers all three pillars of ESG: Environmental, Social and Corporate Governance. The top 2,000 public companies by revenue with headquarters in the U.S. are considered for this recognition. The 2,000 companies are then narrowed down based on publicly available key performance indicators and an independent survey. The final list recognizes the top 500 most responsible companies in the U.S., spanning 14 industries.

The selection for America's Greatest Workplaces for Diversity is based on a five-part evaluation. The final list features 1,500 companies recognized by their employees for genuinely respecting and valuing individuals from different walks of life.

"It is an honor for CommScope to be named to both America's Most Responsible Companies 2024 and America's Greatest Workplaces for Diversity for 2024," noted Chuck Treadway, CEO, CommScope. "We work diligently across our business to implement changes that drive positive outcomes around sustainability, corporate governance and diversity. We are pleased to see the results and are grateful to have them recognized."

Both lists were announced in December of 2023, and can currently be viewed on Newsweek's website.
